Families of COVID Victims Sue EcoHealth Alliance Alleging Gain-of-Function Research Caused 'Undue Risk' and 'Harm'

The families of four people who died from COVID-19 and one person injured by the virus are suing EcoHealth Alliance and the international nonprofit's president, Peter Daszak, Ph.D., and a cohort of government and elected officials, hospitals, military personnel and others.

According to a complaint filed Aug. 2 in the Supreme Court of the State of New York, the defendants exposed the plaintiffs to "undue risk and actual harm" — "whether accidental or intentional" — by helping to fund and conduct gain-of-function (GOF) research, create and release COVID-19, and conspire "to cover up" these actions.

Patricia Finn, the victims' attorney, told the New York Post:

> "If we had known the source or origin of this virus and had not been misled that it was from a pangolin or wet market, we would have acted. It was always a genetically manipulated virus, and that the scientists involved were concealing that from our citizens, the outcome could have been very different."

RFK Jr./Hooker NEW book: Vax-Unvax: Order Now!

The plaintiffs allege the defendants "knew that coronaviruses were dangerous and capable of causing a worldwide pandemic in the human population" and that severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS) — SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) — was a readily transmissible disease, airborne, and could spread through small droplets of saliva in a similar way to cold and influenza.

Four of the plaintiffs, named below, claim wrongful death of a family member, each of whom "died as a direct and proximate result of medical complications" caused by a COVID-19 infection:

- Jenny Golden, daughter of Marry Conley, died in August 2021.
- Monique Adams, daughter of Emma D. Holley, died in August 2021.
- Traci Osuna, wife of Raul Osuna, died in September 2021.
- Melissa Carr, wife of Larry W. Carr, died in August 2021.

Plaintiff Paul Rekner's claim is for personal injuries. Rinker was diagnosed with COVID-19 in 2021. Hospitalized and placed in the intensive care unit.

According to the complaint, many of the defendants' failures are documented in U.S. Inspector Gen. Christi Grimm's January report, "The National Institutes of Health and EcoHealth Alliance Did Not Effectively Monitor Awards and Subawards, Resulting in Missed Opportunities to Oversee Research and Other Subawards."

The U.S. Office of the Inspector General (OIG) found NIH and EcoHealth did not sufficiently comply with procedures, which limited their abilities to "effectively monitor federal grant awards and subawards to understand the nature of the research conducted, identify potential problem areas, and take corrective actions."

The report noted the NIH did not refer the research to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for an "outside review for enhanced potential pandemic pathogens (ePPPs) because it [NIH] determined that it would not involve and was not reasonably anticipated to create, use, or transfer an ePPP."

The OIG concluded:

> "NIH missed opportunities to more effectively monitor research. With improved oversight, NIH may have been able to take more timely corresponding actions to mitigate risks associated with this type of research."

Order Now 'The Wuhan Cover-up' by RFK Jr.!

In 2014, EcoHealth received its first $666,442 of a $4.3 million grant from the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases — under then-Director Anthony Fauci — to study the risk of bat coronaviruses emerging and the potential for outbreaks in human populations.

The research included genetically manipulating coronaviruses to make them more infectious to humans.

Emails revealed the NIH colluded with EcoHealth to circumvent federal restrictions on GOF research and avoid oversight. At least two NIH officials expressed concern that experiments could be "classified" as GOF research, paving the way for gain-of-function experiments banned under a 2014 federal moratorium.

According to The Intercept, Daszak stated in emails that WIV1, the parent of chimeric SARS-like viruses, "has been demonstrated to infect humans or cause human disease." Yet three months earlier, in March 2016, Daszak's collaborator, Ralph Baric, Ph.D., published a paper showing WIV1 indeed have the ability to infect humans and posed a threat to the human population.

In April 2020, under the Trump administration, the NIH terminated EcoHealth's grant over concerns the organization had violated the grant terms, using U.S. taxpayer money to fund GOF research at the Wuhan lab.

In May, NIH reinstated its grant to EcoHealth to study the risk of bat coronavirus spillover.

It's not part of a US military supported bioweapons program, euphemistically called gain-of-function research. The functions being gained were to make the coronavirus more infectious. It's not part of a program to develop a virus that is more deadly, but then the US military be held liable? Or do they have legal immunity?

Ralph Baric? She's another trailblazing bitch! ♥ Katherine Wu!! is another brilliant lady who has researched these military connections and has links to everything so people can see for themselves. Katherine writes her articles called 'Bulletin's News' on Substack. Sasha Latypova writes articles called 'Due Diligence' on Substack.

One can imagine a time in the very near future where law firms will be placing TV advertisements across all networks, around the clock 24/7, asking the question: "Have your family members been killed or severely harmed by COVID-19 or COVID mRNA bioweapons?"
Such a development will be one of the sure signs the COVID global crime spree nightmare is (finally, mercifully) coming to an end.

And all the CHD crew and friend Paul et al. all have it wrong on GOF by military. Reinard Redfield has it right. FOI shows that the "infection rate" Dr. Strzoes is the person of interest. RNA "virus" we weak, single strand necessities that do not kill the cells they enter, and would likely be the worst candidates for GOF. An interview with Guenberg is key. overdue! Bobby has ignored him and perhaps doesnt understand his importance in untangling the collusion. GOF is a DOD/Military etc., red herring.

It has video testimony, in last April, U.S. Inspector Gen. Christi Grimm, said that "EcoAlliance did not effectively monitor awards and subawards", and, considering the serious consequences of that, they also can and should have charges for crimes against humanity.

Plaintiffs should include Ralph Baric in their lawsuit. He has subcontracted on EcoHealth's grants the past few years. The 2017 Utrecht's commitment that EcoHealth reported on in their yearly summary to the NIH, Baric created.

Now can ANY 'scientists' generically 'modify' something they don't possess and can't produce the Original Of? No organisations anywhere around the world can produce a sample of SARS-CoV-2 in their possession. This BASIC FACT is constantly purposely avoided by all the 'scientists' and organisations involved in the 'Gain of Function' research. Until Health Certificates are issued for all humans, the Original Of Covid Vaccine Specimen WOULD NEVER HAVE BEEN NECESSARY! If a manufactured Gain of Fiction' deadly bioweapon had been released. As the SARS-Covid Event 201' spins off countless, the Gain of Fiction replacement that has been percolating in the background is now brought to the foreground to hypnotize the World anew.
